

I'll Stay In The Shadows

(Richard Lamplough)

'Til there are meadows I'll stay in the shadows.
The cries from the ravens can shield me from my demons.
I should shine like diamonds; perhaps one day.

My son, do not do what I've done.
My way leaves you lost and alone.

While you are sleeping the world keeps on turning.
In case you are frightened I will leave the light on.
You know I love you so very much.

My son, you've a lifetime to come.
Your world needs some space to unfurl.
Small wings, big sky.
My my, you'll grow up then you'll fly.
