

That's The Day

(Richard Lamplough)

Verse 1:

Let's establish the facts for a moment.

*Please try to understand I'm not in love with you anymore,
I've gained great strength of character and I'm writing songs again;
Songs that sum up my life perfectly.*

*The reason why I can't sleep at night is because it's hot,
I'm emotionally drained and it certainly has nothing to do with you.
As far as I'm concerned the quicker I forget you the better.*

But with your sweet face you'll be kissed by a daydream,

And at your own sweet pace you're going to find out what love means

That's the place and time..

And that's the day that you'll be mine.

Verse 2:

I seem to have got a lot worse recently.

*I'm cursed with a knife stabbing at my heart torturing me to phone you
, (Until your wretched answering machine cuts in.)*

*And if I still come round when your flat-mate's out,
It's just out of habit and I still lack confidence.*

*Please believe me, it's not to be alone with you
(God, how I love you!)*

*I'm not going to speak behind your back,
And I'm not going to change my mind about how I feel.
I suppose I just have to accept night-time without you,
And look for brightness in a dark future.*

Verse 3:

I better start thinking about myself so I'm going to count to three.

By the time I've reached the number three,

I'm going to be completely over you.

My problem is that I'm like a sound engineer at a rock concert,

I just can't get past the number two!

*I really am trying but inside it's killing me,
All I'm doing is telling myself big white lies.*
